

spring bulbs

inLovewithBulbs

Winter used to be cold and dreadful until I discovered bulbs. Tulips, muscari, freesia, jonquil, daffodil, Dutch iris and the list goes on! Since Winter (or pre-Winter) is just the time to plant these bulbs, suddenly there is this new lease of energy coming through me. I had this desire to fill my garden with colors. Thus I planted more than 450 bulbs, starting with pots (because my messy garden was not ready yet) and when pots ran out even egg shells came into my rescue. It is absolutely amazing what the nature has to offer. Just when we think the cold Winter days are grey, Spring bulbs are ready to splash some brilliant colors. What a love affair!

in Love with

Bulbs

Winter-Spring 2008

Spring